Note to Allied Powers Protests
Their Attitude on All Mandates.

BACKS WILSON'S STAND

New Note Goes Even Further in Demanding Recognition of U. S. Rights.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—A new note has been sent to the principal allied powers by Secretary of State Hughes protesting against their attitude on mandate territories, it was learned Tuesday.

The note, it was stated authoritatively, was dispatched Monday night. The note, understood to have gone to Great Britain, France, Japan and possibly Italy, is the first formal statement of the position of the Harding administration on the entire mandate question. Its dispatch comes as a natural climax to the recent authoritative pronouncement that the United States will insist on the recognition of the rights and interests of America in the territories and resources rendered as the result of the war.

Dispatch of the note also follows correspondence by the Wilson administration with the principal allied powers in which this government sought to protect American interests.

MAKES TWO POINTS

The present note is understood to deal specifically with these two points in controversy between the United States and the allied powers:

1.—The stand of the United States that the island of Yap, important cable point in the Pacific ocean, should not be included in the Japanese mandate over the former German islands north of the equator.

2.—The American protest against the San Remo agreement between Great Britain and France for a division of the oil reserves in Mesopotamia, held under British mandate.

THE NOTE IS UNDERSTOOD TO MAKE TWO IMPORTANT POINTS:

That the United States, through President Wilson and his other delegates at the Paris peace conference never gave its assent definitely or tacitly that Yap be included in the Japanese mandate over the Pacific islands.

That the action of Great Britain and France in entering into an exclusive agreement for the division of the oil supplies of Mesopotamia violated the whole spirit of the mandate principle which the United States contends should guarantee to the nationals of every country, large and small, equal rights in commerce and industry.

These two points were made in the fight by the Wilson administration to protect American interests in mandate territories. The Hughes note, however, is understood to go farther than the Wilson notes in stating the American position in stronger terms.

DEATH FARM OWNER

Wealthy Farmer Is Charged

Negro "Slaves."

By United Press Leased Wire
Corthouse, Covington, Ga.—"Georgia's good name must be cleared of this blot—Negro peonage. We must show the world that this states does not approve it. Swift justice must be meted out to the guilty."

With this declaration Assistant Solicitor General A. M. Brand Tuesday plunged into the prosecution of John S. Williams, wealthy Jasper county planter who is charged with holding Negroes as slaves and killing them when they "rebelled."

Williams, a huge man, surrounded by armed deputies, entered the little red courthouse shortly before the first session opened. In addition to his guards, there were twenty more officers scattered through the crowd ready to shoot if trouble started. Clyde Manning, the Negro "Simon Legree" of Williams' plantation, was also heavily guarded. He has turned state's evidence and is charged with murdering three Negro "slaves" at Williams' command.

The state expects to call forty witnesses, it was learned, in an effort to prove that Williams operated a "death farm" where ignorant Negroes "purchased" from the jails by his payment of their fines, were worked under the lash of black whips and ruthlessly slain when they tried to escape or complain to the authorities.

$50,000 LOSS CAUSED
BY TEXAS WINDSTORM

By United Press Leased Wire
Wharton, Texas.—Damage estimated at nearly $50,000 was done here early Tuesday when a heavy windstorm swept the town during a downpour of rain.

Two houses were completely demolished and two more seriously damaged. Two persons, both Negro women, were slightly injured. Damage to surrounding towns is feared.

Wires were torn down by the heavy wind and communication was impossible until nearly noon.

WHITE HOUSE DREAM FADES

Chicago.—Little Pearl Harding will not, after all, be "the White House" baby.

The police have brought a sudden stop to the climb of the Chicago Hardings, who became celebrities through a bogus relations to the president.

"Cousin Everett," Pearl's brother, according to Dr. W. J. Hickson, of the municipal pycopathic hospital, is mentally unsound and his claims to relationship to President Harding are based on a delusion.

Pearl's picture was spread broadcast as the little girl who would spend the next four years at the White House, keeping the childless Hardings' from loneliness.

President Harding brought about the downfall of Everett. After he learned that the check tendered the Zion, Ill.—This shout and challenge—"death to lady nicotine"—came out of peaceful Zion Tuesday.

The voice was Wilbur Glen Voliva's, monarch of Zion City and head of the church of Zion, informing the nation his campaign to drive tobacco back into the soil had started.

Voliva is planning to send out some of his missionaries militant to fight the use of tobacco.

"Tobacco must go," shouted Voliva. "It will ruin the nation yet. How do you expect the United States to continue as a world power when it rooks with tobacco poison?"

Voliva's is the second reform organization to start an intensive drive against the favored this week. The Women's Christian Temperance Union started its educational campaign Monday.

The W. C. T. U.'s action is a movement and not a "campaign," officials said. The 500,000 members are to pray tobacco out of existence.

"We'll pray too," said Voliva, "but we'll have our fists doubled up when we do it. It's all right to chase the devil with prayers, but a meat axe comes in handy once in a while."

STILLMAN'S DAUGHTER
FLEES FROM PUBLICITY

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul.—Miss Anne Stillman, reported fleeing from the spotlight of publicity in the east, was said Tuesday to be enroute to Chicago from the McCormick hunting lodge near Gordon, Wis.

She was found at the lodge by newspapermen in company with Harold McCormick, Chicago millionaire, and his daughter Marjorie.

Reporters said Miss Stillman accompanied Miss McCormick to the woods disguised as a maid to avoid publicity.

McCormick and his daughter said they would do everything in their power to help Miss Stillman avoid meeting reporters, according to the newspapers. Both were said to have denied that she was with them.

The McCormick lodge is at Island Lake, 35 miles from Gordon, and is accessible only by an old logging road.

The party declined to discuss the sensational divorce case of Miss Stillman's parents.

BRITISH LABOR

GOVERNMENT TAKES MINES

Quick Action to Combat Strike
Is Disturbing to Labor's Leaders.

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Britain's threatened general strike was deferred Tuesday when transport workers adjourned without taking a vote.

Called to decide what action to take in supporting the mine strike, the transport workers considered only routine reports.

They are expected to take joint action with the railway union whose executives meet here Wednesday.

Sir Robert Horne Tuesday outlined the government's position on the miners' demands. He made a lengthy address in commons touching on previous negotiations with the miners, the condition of the business and declared again that the government will not subsidize the industry.

Horne insisted that the tax payers already are overburdened and would not permit a subsidy for what is already one of the most favored industries.

Whole Country Menaced

"The whole trade of the country is menaced by this strike," Sir Robert told commons.

"The mining industry itself will suffer a serious disaster."

Sir Robert declared that the British coal industry suffered greatly in the last strike which lasted two weeks.

"We lost a number of markets because we couldn't supply the coal," he said.

"America profited by our losses." The miners, he said, demanded last fall that the price of coal to the consumer be reduced.

"Now," he declared, "they are demanding that the consumer be taxed in order to subsidize the industry and keep their wages up."

Take Over Mines

Government agencies have been empowered to assume control of mines, food manufacture and shipping, street car lines, canals, harbors, export trade, lighting and all means of transportation.

Some of these were taken over Tuesday.

Authorities were prepared to introduce the most severe restrictions since the armistice.

To carry out its industrial program the government already has begun extensive military and naval movements. The navy recalled all men from foreign waters and stopped leaves. Troops were distributed in such way as to give the government the greatest aid, both in carrying on industries and in preserving peace.

Delay Strike Vote

The government's promptness in meeting the challenge was disturbing to transport and railway leaders. As a result it was indicated Tuesday they may urge delaying the strike vote until negotiations have been resumed between miners, colliery owners and government agencies.

Unemployment figures leaped by the thousands. Thirty thousand tannery workers joined the idle Tuesday. Two hundred thousand employed in food factories were laid off, 60,000 motor workers, 326,000 brewery employees and thousands in lesser trades swelled the list.

First Strike Violence

Edinburgh.—First violence in the British coal strike occurred here Tuesday.

A police guard at the Harthill collieries, wrecked the plant and drove away employees endeavoring to pump water from the pits.

Five policemen and a number of workers were injured by the miners who used clubs and stones.

MAY USE TROOPS TO STOP RUM SMUGGLING

By United Press Leased Wire
San Antonio.—Army troops may be used to breaking liquor smuggling across the Rio Grande from Mexico, it developed here Tuesday.

A report to United States District Attorney Robert H. El Paso, giving details of the killing two weeks ago of Prohibition Officers Wood and Beckert, said drastic action was necessary or "we will have to turn the district over to the bootleggers."

Threats have been made against government witnesses if their testimony should prove disastrous to the men held on charges of killing the two officers.

BABY BANDITS GET

Chicago.—Tom Turley, 11 and his brother, Alfred, 9, withdrew from the crime wave Tuesday.

The two baby bandits were caught while robbing a butcher shop Tuesday. Alfred was shot in the foot by George Gosech, butcher, who saw him climbing out of the window with several yards of frankfurters trailing behind.

America's Position in World Diplomacy Is Increasing in Influence.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1921)

Washington.—European diplomacy with all its shifts and turns, ready at any moment to take advantage of the influence of the United States in its present state of international affairs, has fastened itself on the Washington administration with the avowed purpose of using the moral help if not the physical assistance of America to achieve certain objects in Europe.

Almost overnight have come the moves on the chess-board of world diplomacy revealing President Harding and Secretary Hughes in a much more enviable position than most people imagined would be the case after a campaign in which the present League of Nations was the object of so much condemnation.

France, more anxious at the present moment to have the moral help of the United States than anything else, has made the first move. She has declined to ratify the Versailles treaty. She doubted it for a while but the reports of former Premier Viviani after his talks with members of the United States senate have caused the French to abandon for the time at least all talk of the league of the treaty and concentrate on regaining America's moral help alongside France in the controversy with Germany over the payment of reparations.

Increase in Strength

Meanwhile President Harding and Secretary Hughes observing the disintegration of allied unity, sit quietly in Washington exerting the moral influence of the United States along broad and general lines without specific obligation or pledge. There is, moreover, no abatement of the policy begun by Secretary Colby in the closing days of the Wilson administration whereby the United States seeks to preserve all the rights and privileges contained in the treaty of Versailles without ratifying that document.

Slowly the Harding-Hughes policy is crystallizing into an independent force in the world and is strengthened largely through the breaking down of the allied solidarity which if employed as a unit might have embarrassed the Harding administration, but which when disintegrated plays directly into the hands of the American chief executive and his astute secretary of state.

Tobin Strong
For Teachers
Who Can Smile

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Ability likely looking teachers to smile book learning into the unwilling minds of pupils is the salvation of the American public school system.

Edward J. Tobin, who is responsible for the education of Cook county children and who has 2000 teachers under him, confided this Tuesday.

Tobin's desk was covered with resignations from teachers who are about to be pulled from pedagogy into matrimony by the call of spring.

All of which started Tobin musing about education in general and the dispensary of it in particular.

"It's a great life," he said.

"If I get them homely and stupid, then they are no good as teachers. If I get them good looking and intelligent, then the right man comes along and marries them. I'm glad things are like that, though. Each passing beauty who teaches for a while and then gets married makes a wonderful contribution to our educational system. They put up and zest into the school routine."

"Of course they get married and put the same pep in some man's home, but then, along comes a new crop of girls with fascinating smiles and do the same thing."

"I don't want teachers who are love-proof. Ability to fall in love in a while—and out occasionally—makes them better suited to teach the young. It shows they are real red blooded human beings."

"It's the attractive teachers who are the most successful."

THREE ARE INJURED IN

Chicago.—Three persons were injured and the home of former Alderman Oscar De Priest, Negro, was badly damaged early Tuesday by a bomb.

De Priest said he had received threatening letters recently because he rented his south side apartment to Negroes.

GROCERY FIRM LOSES
$300,000 TO EMPLOYEES

Chicago.—The state's attorney's office Tuesday asked indictment of four men, said to have confessed that they swindled the Durrand and Kasper Wholesale Grocery company out of $300,000.

The men, all former employees, are Max Goodman, J. J. Docter, Alex Wineburger and J. Landola.

Police are looking for J. J. Pokorney, former salesman and collector for the firm. A sixth man, alleged to have been implicated, is said to have died recently.

Elise Suhring, an employee of the company, bare the scheme to police. She said Goodman wrote her a letter revealing the theft. She turned the letter over to authorities.

WANT COORDINATION OF SOLDIER RELIEF BODIES

Washington.—Consolidation of all soldier relief government agencies under one head directly responsible to the president without a cabinet intermediary will be recommended to congress, it was indicated Tuesday.

This program was outlined by Charles G. Dawes, chairman of the special committee appointed by President Harding to investigate the government's treatment of world war veterans.

Dawes declared at the first meeting of the committee Tuesday he would recommend consolidation to the president. It has been authoritatively indicated Harding will probably include in his message whatever Dawes recommends.

President Sounds
Peace Treaty Doom

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The doom of the treaty of Versailles so far as the United States is concerned, was pronounced definitely by President Harding Tuesday.

In unmistakable words, the president, speaking to newspapermen, made it clear he was convinced there is no practical way in which the United States can consider ratifying the treaty.

Harding denied, however, that he has approved immediate action on the Knox peace resolution.

There is no need, according to Harding, for precipitate action in regard to the Knox resolution. He indicated, however, that he saw no particular reason for a marked reversal of the position he took when he voted for the Knox resolution in the senate and when he endorsed it in his speech of acceptance during the campaign.

At the outset of his interview with the newspapermen Tuesday, Harding denounced reports that he approved the plan espoused by the senate irreconcilables calling for immediate adoption of the Knox measure. These reports, he made clear, are entirely unauthentic.

The president insisted that he is committed to no definite program and declined to discuss any possible plan at present. He indicated, however, that the whole subject of international relations would be dealt with in his message to congress next week.

It was indicated that whatever steps are taken would come along piecemeal and it was insisted that the administration is going to move cautiously and prudently in solving the situation.

HOOVER PLANS TO COUNTERACT TARIFF

Former Free Traders Now
Arguing for High Protection Wall.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, discussed Tuesday with his long time associates the conflicting tariff desires of American manufacturing and agricultural interests.

The businessmen conceded that the farmers will win the fight for a protective tariff on their products, but maintained that this will greatly reduce American manufacturers' markets.

Hoover, in a series of meetings with business and manufacturing groups has heard anti-protection arguments from men who in past years forced high tariffs.

Wallace is listening to clamors for protection from farmers' organizations who at one time led the fight against tariff wall erection.

This reversal of position, brought about by changed world trade conditions caused Hoover and his commercial colleagues to consider these plans for offsetting trade this country will lose by South American and other retaliation against the protective emergency tariff bill.

1.—A tremendous trade offensive in the Far East.

2.—A system of long time European credits, engineered by various business groups, in the way the cotton interests are attempting.

FRANCE INSISTS ON MILITARY ALLIANCE

French Envoy Given to Understand That U. S. Repudiates World League.

Washington.—France concedes the right of the United States to obtain peace with Germany through the Knox resolution but greatly desires a declaration of policy in that resolution so specific that it would amount to a contract as binding as the military alliance with France upon which the senate refused to pass.

The declaration of policy should be so drawn that it would leave no doubt that the United States stands with France against Germany on the reparations question.

"This, in effect is the Paris government's position as stated by Rene Viviani in his conferences here and repeated in detail to Republican members of the senate foreign relations committee Tuesday night at a dinner by Senator McMillin McCormick."

Viviani was told plainly that there is no possibility of the United States joining the league of nations or ratifying the Versailles treaty without the league and that the purpose is to put through the Knox resolution immediately.

"France fears God and the United States senate," said Stephan Luzzane, French editor who is with Viviani, "and of the two finds the senate more to be feared because it is on earth."

WORKING AGREEMENTS
NEEDED, RAIL HEAD SAYS

Chicago.—Working agreements between employees and executives are necessary for the proper functioning of a railroad, H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, told the United States railroad labor board Tuesday.

Byram was called by employees to testify before the board which is hearing the application of the railroad for abrogation of national shop agreements. Byram said working rules have long been in effect on his road.

"Workers were given an opportunity to discuss the rules before their adoption," he said.

"Whenever possible they were altered in case objections were made."

Byram's railway was characterized by unions in 1919 as the "fairest railroad in the United States."

MEXICAN GUARANTEES
LIVES OF FOREIGNERS

Washington.—The state department Tuesday was advised by American Charge Sumner at Mexico City that he had received a communication from the Mexican government assuring protection to the lives and property of Americans and other foreigners.

The Mexican communication is understood to have referred specifically to the recent murder of two Americans in the Tampico oil district with regard to which representations were made by the state department.

Annihilated.

TURK CAPITAL CELEBRATES

Wildest Scenes of Jubilation

Victories in East.

By Laurence Moore

Constantinople.—Greek armies in Asia Minor have been shattered and routed by the Turks.

Dispatches brought by couriers from Brussa and Samsat Tuesday showed the Greeks overwhelmed.

Three divisions were annihilated. Two escaped in panic flight over the desert, leaving a broad trail of dead and dying, smashed wagons, abandoned guns, wrecked ambulances, maimed horses and flaming ruins.

Prince Andrew, brother of King Constantine and many high officers including a divisional general, were left among the slain.

Word of these losses, trickling down the lines, had a disastrous effect on the Greek morale.

City Wild With Joy

Constantinople was wild with joy. From Stamboul to Bobek and from Scutari to Pera, Islamic banners and devices fluttered over jubilation crowds.

Everywhere in some of the big foreign colonies, the population joined in noisy rejoicing over the collapse of the Greek invasion. The bloodiest fighting occurred in the northern sector where for a month the Greeks had made steady advances on a 60-mile front.

The Turks, gradually acquiring ammunition and other supplies by way of the Black Sea ports, began to prepare their counteroffensive. The attack was launched according to the German plan after artillery had flattened the light Greek defenses, the Turks swarmed out from their trenches in a great mass.

Turks Lose Heavily

Terrific losses were sustained as the Greeks opened on the advancing masses with rifle and light artillery. Another wave succeeded the first and the Turks staggered over the Greek lines. The Turks easily excelled in the hand-to-hand fighting, wielding knife and bayonet with deadly effect. The traditional weapon of the Turk, the scimitar, appeared.

Greek lines wavered and broke. Artillery horses were unleashed. Sometimes bearing two and three riders, the animals galloped to the rear. The retreat became a rout. All along the sixty miles from the crescent banners bobbed as the Turkish hosts pursued the enemy.

The Greek wounded were left on the field. The hospital service was disorganized.

Dispatches found on Greek officers showed they were preparing to soften the news of the defeat. They stated that operations in the Brussa sector had ceased and that the armies would fall back on defensive positions. They indicated also that a heavy attack was feared in the far south on the Afyon Karasir sector. Evacuation of the line there was "strategically imperative," according to these hastily prepared communiques. The Turks did not extend the action that far.

Foreigners Skeptical

In Constantinople the victory was proclaimed by officials of the Sublime Port. Volunteer officers rushed through quiet streets shouting the news. Instantly the streets became crowded. Banners were hung from windows.

With all the joy, however, the workers were warned to remember the fallen heroes who had driven the Greeks back.

Foreigners mingled with the crowd, not as celebrators, but to enjoy the festivities. Allied observers discounted the victory to some extent, believing that the Greeks can retain their present lines and that the war will have to be decided by outsiders.

MICHIGAN VOTES
SOLDIERS BONUS

By United Press Leased Wire
Lansing, Mich.—The soldiers bonus plan, the most important statewide issue of Monday's election, carried the state by a 3 to 1 majority. In the smaller communities of the state the bonus question was all that prevented many voters from remaining away from the polls.

The bonus question vote approves an amendment to the state constitution which will authorize the issuance of $30,000,000 of bonds with which to pay former soldiers and nurses a reward amounting to $15. for each month spent in the service.

The vote from 27 counties early Tuesday stood 31,666 for the bonus, and 9,166 against.

BANDITS LOOT SAFETY
DEPOSIT BOXES IN BANK

Withrow, Minn.—Bank bandits early Tuesday looted safety deposit boxes of State Bank here and escaped with negotiable securities estimated at several thousand dollars.

Bank officials were unable to estimate the amount taken, but asserted there was no cash missing.

The bandits failed to get into the cash vault.

WOMANS AUXILIARY TO LEGION BEGINS MEMBER CAMPAIGN

One Thousand Members in Appleton Is Plan of Veterans' Kin.

A campaign for membership in the women's auxiliary to the American legion is being launched this week. The first gun was fired when a committee of the auxiliary met with the American legion Monday evening explaining the campaign to the members. Membership cards were passed among the men who signed for their mothers, wives, sisters and daughters, about 200 memberships being paid for at the meeting while a number of others were signed.

Before the drive started there were about 215 members and it is estimated that at least 1,000 members will be secured before the campaign is over. Wives, sisters, mothers and daughters of any man eligible to legion membership, may enroll in the auxiliary.

The actual campaigning will be started Wednesday afternoon when the committee of which Mrs. E. J. Little is chairman, meet to make the final arrangements. Lists of people eligible to the membership will be compiled and as far as is possible, each one will receive a personal call. An effort is to be made to secure the membership of those women whose husbands belong to other American legion posts.

Members of the Oney Johnston post are enthusiastic over the campaign and are cooperating with the auxiliary in every possible way. One man took out a membership for his mother who lives in England.

The purpose of the auxiliary is identical with the legion, the same preamble being incorporated into both constitutions. Members pledge themselves "To uphold and defend the constitution of the United States of America; to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate a 100 per cent Americanism; to preserve the memories and incidents of our association in the great war; to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state and nation; to combat the anarchy of both classes and masses; to make right the master of might; to promote peace and good will on earth; to safeguard and transmit to posterity the principles of justice, freedom and democracy; to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness."

OPEN SIX BIDS FOR HIGHWAY WORK HERE

Bids for paving Greenville-Shoclen road, Seymour Appleton road and Little Chute hill were opened at the office of the county highway commissioner at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon. The letting of the contracts was delayed until Wednesday in order to permit tabulation.

Six bids were submitted and they were called for in three different ways. Under one the contractor was to furnish all the labor and all material except cement, under another plan the contractor was to furnish all the labor and the county all the material; under the third the contractor was to furnish all the labor and all the material.

D. F. Culbertson and H. Lang of the district highway office in Green Bay, represented the state at the opening of the bids.

Mrs. Henry Schuetter left for Chicago Tuesday, where she will be the guest of her sons for the coming week.

OPEN SIX BIDS FOR HIGHWAY WORK HERE

Bids for paving Greenville-Shoclen road, Seymour Appleton road and Little Chute hill were opened at the office of the county highway commissioner at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon. The letting of the contracts was delayed until Wednesday in order to permit tabulation.

Six bids were submitted and they were called for in three different ways. Under one the contractor was to furnish all the labor and all material except cement, under another plan the contractor was to furnish all the labor and the county all the material; under the third the contractor was to furnish all the labor and all the material.

D. F. Culbertson and H. Lang of the district highway office in Green Bay, represented the state at the opening of the bids.

Mrs. Henry Schuetter left for Chicago Tuesday, where she will be the guest of her sons for the coming week.

80 Years Old—Fit as a Fiddle

"I had a bad case of stomach and bowel trouble that four doctors could not help. Suffered all kinds of pain, was filled with gas and constipated for years. I was advised to use Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Since taking a course of it four years ago my trouble has disappeared and have felt like a young man. Although 80 years old, I feel fit as a fiddle." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. WHO ARE AMERICANS?

Have we an America in a truly national sense, or only a collection of contending foreign-sympathy groups? Such a question is inevitably suggested by what we too often read and hear. The recent patriotic meeting in Madison Square Garden to protest against foreign propaganda, and reassert the country's ideals in connection with the world war and its after conditions, was supposed to be "all-American," and it seemed to be, the American Legion being its chief moving spirit. But according to the Gaelic American, a New York publication, it was paid for by British gold and all its speakers were hired tools of the British.

It appears from this publication that Mr. Littleton, for example, "is an Anglo-maniac because England helped the Southern Confederacy," that "General Pershing's speech was in some respects worse than Mr. Littleton's," that "the whole spirit of the meeting was un-American," that the officers of the American Legion "have become open agents of England," and that "the name of the organization should be changed to Anglomaniac Legion." In other words, those who think they are the real Americans are not Americans at all, for only loyal Sinn Feimers have a right to be so called. Altogether of a piece with this have long been the utterances of that part of the "German-American" press represented by George Sylvester Viereck whose paper was formerly and should still be entitled The Fatherland. In the view of the journalistic gentry of this class, though their utterances are sometimes veiled, the only interests of any account are the interests of Germany, and the only American worthy of the name is either a person of German blood or a pronounced friend of Germany.

Justice Daniel F. Cohan of New York is quoted as saying recently: "The time has come when we should put an end to the invasion of our country by propagandists of all kinds. Not a ship land from England or France that is not loaded down with people who are coming here to endanger our interests and to work more or less openly against our ideals. We should tolerate no longer these attempts in the name of America to divide our people into groups and factions and to break down the solidarity which is necessary to our safety and defense."

The Irish in this country are so assured that the true American attitude is and must be an Irish attitude, that the Gaelic American even ventures the assertion that the views expressed by General Pershing and other speakers at the Madison Square Garden meeting do not represent "one per cent of the population" of this country. Speaking for the German-sympathy group last year, George Sylvester Viereck said the thing to do was to elect a political party and then "run it." This is recalled merely in order to add that if real Americans do not want our foreign-sympathy groups to get this country into trouble abroad as well as at home they will have to bestir themselves. It is impossible, of course, to expect that there shall not be sympathy in this country for various old world nationalities which may be fighting for liberty or are in historic difficulties. This is natural because of the humanitarian spirit which is a characteristic of the American nation. Nevertheless, we should not allow these sympathies to carry us to the extent of injecting them into our politics or our international policies, or of dividing us at home along racial lines.

GORKY TAKES A HAND

More than once the might of the pen has preceded the might of the sword in Russia. Again the pen has moved in Russia, and no man, least of all one who is not Russian, can forecast the result.
Count Leo Tolstoy won the confidence of the Russian peasantry. He wore their smock, talked their language and was "one of them." His religious doctrine of non-resistance to evil, wrapped as he shrewdly wrapped it, in subtle mysticism, brought thousands of converts.

Now comes Maxim Gorky. Gorky is a novelist. His word is respected in Russia. The peasants believe him. He has written "Reminiscences of Tolstoy," with whom he was intimate for many years. His tale bears the mark of truth. He declares in almost as many words that Tolstoy was an intellectual faker. He says almost bluntly that the count had no faith in what he preached.

What will the Russian peasant do! His faith in Russia—not the established government—but in Russia herself—has been sadly shaken by the revolution and revolt. What will come now when faith in the great Tolstoy is shaken too?
Turgeneff's "Fathers and Sons" laid the groundwork for the first revolution. It was Andreiev's "Red Laugh" that broke the backbone of the Russian army in the war with Japan. What will Gorky's revelation of Tolstoy do in Russia?

FOR SAFER SCHOOLS

The report just made by the national committee for Chamber of Commerce cooperation with the public schools on a survey conducted by the American City Bureau, ought to be far from reassuring to the parents of children in public schools. The committee is headed by George D. Strayer of the Teachers' College of Columbia university.

This report indicates that in 429 cities of the United States tens of thousands are attending school in firetraps, and that hundreds of thousands are compelled to attend half-time or in makeshift, insanitary buildings. Passing the problems of playground room, which in some cases is limited to a space of six by six feet for a pupil and in others none at all, the question of fire hazard, seems vital.

Of all the buildings in these cities, "only five per cent are of the type of construction usually called fireproof." 25 per cent of the two poorest types of school buildings included in the survey are of two or more stories and without fire escapes; 39 per cent of these two types have no fire extinguishers and less than 10 per cent have automatic extinguishers in any part of the buildings; only 11 per cent have automatic fire alarms. One-half of the present day schools were built prior to 1897. In view of these conditions when are we to have the next school tragedy?

It seems that a real menace exists. How about Appleton? Are our public school children amply protected in case of fire? Constant fire drills by pupils, automatic sprinkler equipment, hand grenades in every room, and automatic fire alarms would greatly reduce the fire hazard even in buildings that are not of the latest fire-proof construction.

LAND VALUES

The value of farm land during the past year decreased seven per cent, according to the department of agriculture. Here is its estimate of the average value of an acre of plow land in the United States:

March 1, 1914.....	$52.94
March 1, 1916.....	$58.00
March 1, 1917.....	$62.17
March 1, 1918.....	$68.38
March 1, 1919.....	$74.31
March 1, 1920.....	$90.01
March 1, 1921.....	$83.78

The drop in farm land values has been greatest in southern states—22 per cent in Georgia and 24 per cent in Kentucky. This is due to the cotton and tobacco situation. Iowa has the highest-priced farm land, averaging $200 an acre, compared with $219 a year ago. The lowest rate of decline was in western states. California, Oregon and Colorado even showed an increase.

Farm land values, however, are higher now than in any year up to 1920. The slump is due to the heavy decline in prices of farm products. Whether the slump will continue during the next few years, depends on the selling price of farm products. Probably the depreciation is only temporary. As for city land, it is subject to the same economic laws as farm land.

Land may decline in value as measured by dollars in line with general lowering of cost of living, but the owner doesn't really lose, for his dollars will buy more.

DON'T MONKEY WITH A GOLF BALL

The interior of a golf ball is filled with a liquid under pressure which is often poisonous and can be released upon to make trouble if it gets in the eyes, nose or any breaks in the skin.
A child recently died in England from the effects of the explosion which occurred when the little one had eaten its way into the center of the sphere. Some years ago a golfer was injured in the eye by the discharge which took place as he whittled his way into the core of a golf ball. Golf balls are only for golf.

The germ theory of disease dates from 1863.

ARE RAW ONIONS GOOD TO EAT?

Besides wearing bags of noxious stuff such as asafetida, camphor or iodoform, on one's chest, almost any ignorant, superstitious old granny will assure you, it is a simple matter to keep off germs by eating freely of raw onions. There is usually a grain of truth underlying these ridiculous superstitions of the uneducated, just enough of truth to found a huge edifice of pure fancy on. Whereas an intelligent mind adds two and two make four, an illiterate can just as well make six or nineteen of it.
In a recent issue of "Munchener Medizinische Wochenschrift" published in Munich, E. Wilbrand gives the results of some interesting experiments he has been conducting to determine the value of onions in the diet. I greatly regret to report that Wilbrand has found that when we eat raw onion the digestive process in the stomach is greatly retarded. But I'm not going to stop eating 'em for any such trivial reason as that.

Along with the retardation of digestion in the stomach it appears that there is a marked increase in the acidity of the gastric juice secreted. Take this for what it is worth. As for me, I'm glad my gastric juice is acid, and I don't mind the increase. With the increased acidity, Wilbrand observes also an augmentation in the amount of gastric juice secreted under the stimulus of raw onions, and these effects continue for a considerable period after ingesting the onions.

Wilbrand is no pessimist. That's why I quote his observations here. He extols the raw onion as a blessing. As such I eat it. When one eats raw onion one's food is subjected to more thorough and prolonged digestion in the stomach, so that probably no morsel escapes contact with the acid of the gastric juice, which acid is the natural germicide which prevents a healthy individual from disease germs swallowed with food. Raw onion must therefore be considered a prophylactic against intestinal diseases of bacterial origin. Typhoid fever is one such disease, though I certainly do not advise any one to use raw onions rather than the typhoid bacterin prophylaxis when in danger of exposure to typhoid infection.

For like reason raw onions should be used freely for their indirect antiseptic effect in cases of intestinal disease; in which cases they also do good by favoring more thorough digestion of food before it leaves the stomach, and thus giving the intestine needed rest from unnecessary work.
Raw onions should be a favorite relish of persons actually (not in imagination merely) suffering from intestinal putrefaction and excessive fermentation. Only those with hyperacidity of the gastric juice should avoid raw onions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nanheim Baths
Do you believe that Nanheim baths, certain mechanical-therapeutic treatments, graduated exercises, diet and medication, all under competent medical supervision, would be beneficial for aortic with valvular heart disease? Both mitral and aortic valves are affected. (J. W.)

ANSWER—Yes. That is just the thing.

Appendix Conjecture
Since persons who have had the appendix removed invariably suffer from constipation it is not true that the appendix is the natural lubricator for the intestines? (L. H.)

ANSWER—Persons who have had the appendix removed are no more likely to be troubled with constipation than those who have not, as a matter of fact. I, for one, am content to do without that particular mode of "lubrication." The appendix is of no more value to a human being than is a wart on one's nose.

Red, Rough Hands

Will you please prescribe me a remedy for my rough hands? I work outside a good bit in every weather, and my hands are rough and very red and itched. Is there anything on the market that will help them? (D. O. S.)

ANSWER—After washing with soap, you must rinse all the soap away very carefully. This lotion or thin jelly is excellent for rough, red, chapped or irritated skin:

Boric acid	1-2 ounce
Glycerin	1 ounce
Tragacanth	80 grains
Water	1 pint

It is preferable to purchase tragacanth in shavings (less likely to be adulterated than powder). Boil all together, stirring frequently, till dissolved into a homogenous clear jelly. Water must be added from time to time to make up for evaporation. Apply some to the hands three or four times a day, after washing, and before the hands have quite dried.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Tuesday, April 7, 1896

D. E. Thompson returned from a business trip to Milwaukee.

The Easter dance at Central Music hall was largely attended.

Mrs. A. C. H. Baker left for Chicago for a visit with Mr. Baker's sister, Mrs. Raymond.

Henry Verwey left for Eagle River, where he expected to spend the summer hunting, fishing and acting as guide for tourists.

The paper mill of the Howard Paper Co. at Menasha was closed down on account of low water.

Col. H. A. Frambach said that on account of the condition of the market the Falls Manufacturing Co. at Quinnesec Falls had decided to build on a somewhat smaller scale than was at first intended.

The new officers and vestrymen of Grace church were: Senior warden, M. Mitchell; junior warden, Frank Wilson; secretary, A. L. Williams; treasurer, B. Ramsay; vestrymen, John S. VanNortwick, W. A. Clark and Oliver Smith.

Mike Held, Chris. Roemer, Joseph Roemer, Mike Gluckstein and J. P. Miller were the prize winners at the schafkopf tournament at St. Joseph hall the evening previous.

Paper manufacturers were complaining of a great depression in the paper market that was already of two months' duration. Orders were scarce and prices unsatisfactory.

Mrs. Joseph Schmidt, 30, died the previous Monday from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Richard Bottrell and William Green returned from a four days' hunting trip from Lake Butte des Morts.

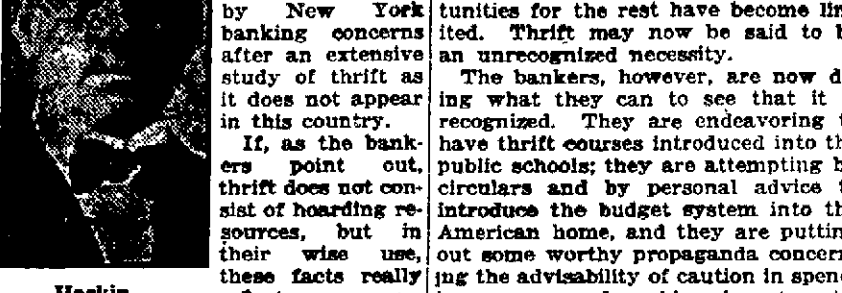

The water in Lake Winnebago was reported to be rising rapidly and was within ten inches of the crest of Menasha dam.

The Misses Minnie Peterson, Nellie Scott and Mary Bentley returned to Milwaukee where the two first-named were attending the normal school and the latter was engaged as teacher in the public schools.

STAGGERED LUNCH HOURS FOR VIENNA

The capacity of the illuminating plants of Vienna are overtaxed at the present time and there is a draft upon them at noon when the natives are at lunch. In order to overcome this the residents occupying houses with even numbers must have their noon meal at half-past 11 and those in the houses with uneven numbers at half-past 12.

Thrift: An Interpretation
By Frederic J. Haskin
New York City—That the United States is one of the most thriftest nations on earth, and that the average American is a competent and a reckless in the spending of his cash, are two disagreeable facts recently emphasized by New York banking concerns after an extensive study of thrift as it does not appear in this country.
If, as the bankers point out, thrift does not consist of hoarding resources, but in their wise use, these facts really reflect upon our native intelligence. Instead of being the most sagacious people in the world, as we have thought, it seems that almost any little European nation, like Belgium or Switzerland, can give us cards and spades in matters of economy.
Without a budget system, our government squanders money wherever and whenever the whims of congress direct it, without regard to the ways to keep strictly itemized accounts, and we, the taxpayers, good naturedly foot the bills. It finances the building of remote bridges and village postoffices with amazing prodigality, and scripps on appropriations for education and public health. It pays out immense sums in war pensions, but makes no provision for its superannuated civil employees. According to the bankers, no European nation would support such a slipshod financial system.
And our national waste is faithfully imitated by the individual. The majority of American homes have no budget systems. Household expenses are regulated by the whims of the family, and the bills are considered afterward—usually, long afterward. Very little preparation is made for the hazards of the future. The uneducated immigrant who dwells so numerously in our midst generally exhibits much greater skill in spending and saving his earnings than does the American-born citizen. Thousands of the former class return to Europe every year, with small fortunes to ease their declining years, while thousands of the latter enter homes for the indigent.
The following statistics, quoted from a publication of the American Bankers' association, show how pitifully few Americans ever achieve a well-provided old age:

Your Chance of Success.
"At the age of 25 we find in this country 100 men are all strong and vigorous. They have started in life with a fair capital of 40 have moderate means, while 35 have saved nothing.
"At the age of 45, the number of wealthy persons has fallen to 2, 65 are merely supporting themselves, while 16 have passed into the discard. They are no longer self-supporting.
"At the age of 55, 20 men have died, only one is very wealthy, only 6 are self-supporting, while 54 are dependent upon their children, upon relatives, or upon charity for support.
"At the age of 75, note what has happened: 63 are dead; of these 60 left no property at all; 3 are well-to-do; 34 are dependent upon their relatives, children, or charity for support; 95 per cent of these will not have sufficient means to pay their funeral bills."

"One of the reasons why Americans are less thrifty than Europeans is that they have been nourished on an old-fashioned and no longer practical theory—the theory that this country possesses boundless resources, that there is plenty for everybody, that to everyone comes the opportunity to be wealthy. This may have been true in the old days when the population was thinly scattered over only a small portion of the land, and a virgin wilderness remained for those who would claim it. Then, perhaps, it was only natural that the term thrift should be ignominiously associated with parsimony, stinginess and miserliness. But today conditions are obviously different. We have a tremendous population in proportion to which our resources do not seem so infinitely boundless. Furthermore, these resources, as the bankers have shown, are now controlled by a few—the 5 per cent who are well to do—and opportunities for the rest have become limited. Thrift may now be said to be an unrecognized necessity.

The bankers, however, are now doing what they can to see that it is recognized. They are endeavoring to have thrift courses introduced into the public schools; they are attempting by circulars and by personal advice to introduce the budget system into the American home, and they are putting out some worthy propaganda concerning the advisability of caution in spending money and making investments. The bankers do not claim to be motivated by a philanthropic feeling in this. Their business is to handle money; therefore it is to their interest to promote individual savings accounts.

Spending Wisely.
Nevertheless, their arguments in favor of thrift are sound and remarkably unbiased. They point out, as has been said before, that thrift does not mean saving money so much as it means spending it wisely. They do not applaud saving at the expense of health or education or other necessities for the development of the individual. "The weekly wage, properly spent is thrift," they say, "even though not a penny may have been put into a savings account or into the purchase of a home."

"The thrifty person will spend his income to meet certain definite needs in about the following order:
"First, he will provide for himself and his family the necessities of life and such comforts and luxuries as will sustain himself and his family in the best physical condition, and will take advantage of opportunities which will increase his competence.
"Second, he will look after the health and moral welfare of himself and his family and expend such sums as will safeguard them against physical and moral decay.
"Third, he will provide against the calamities of life, namely, unemployment, accidents, sickness, old age and dependency, of his family in the case of his death.
"Absolutely nothing should be spent from the first necessity. To sustain the working power of the individual and the physical welfare of the family is paramount to every other consideration.

"Thrift substitutes a plan, based upon foresight and a comprehensive study of one's needs, for an impulsive, ill-considered spending."

A large number of standard budgets have been worked out by economists for the benefit of those who wish to regulate their expenses by such a system. Usually, what is considered the ideal budget, prepared by the late Ellen H. Richards, is used as a basis. This delegates one-fourth of the income for food; one-fifth for rent; one-seventh for household operating expenses; one-seventh for amusement. It is impossible to find one budget that will fit the needs of everybody, however; the best way is to improvise one for one's own needs, based upon expenditures in the past.
Then there is a question of income itself. Does it provide for all of the family's needs, and, if not, how can it be increased. "Thrift," say the bankers, "asks certain pertinent questions, such as 'Am I earning all the money I reasonably can? How can I increase my skill or output so as to receive more? Is there a possibility of additional money in the not yet realized by members of our family? Ought we to be receiving an income on investments? Would it be economy to invest capital in education or special training?'"

Thus, you will see that thrift is no longer to be regarded as a miserly instinct, but that it has become a science, requiring study and experience. For those who are interested, the public libraries contain many valuable books which, unfortunately, have not yet been added to the public school curricula.

- Q. What planet is the star that is called the "North Star"? W. A. T.
A. The North Star is not a planet. It is a solar star and its name is Polaris.
- Q. Please tell us what a tong war is. E. G. B. M. R.
A. A Tong is a Chinese form of secret society. The word is derived from the Chinese word meaning "hall" or "private meeting place." The Tong is widely represented among the Chinese population in America and trouble between two or more of them is designated "tong war."
- Q. When is Mother's Day? W. A. McE.
A. The second Sunday in May has been legally fixed as Mother's Day by proclamation issued by former President Wilson, May 9, 1914. Prior to that a resolution had passed the House and Senate commending Mother's Day. In 1913, the legislature of Nebraska made Mother's Day a State Holiday. In 1914, Honorable J. Thomas Hefflin at the request of the founder of Mother's Day, Miss Anna Jarvis, introduced the joint resolution, which was agreed to, whereby the President should designate by annual proclamation the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day and request the display of the American Flag on all Government buildings, homes, and other suitable places. The United States is the first nation in the world to give such a national patriotic holiday to the mothers of a nation.
- Q. Is there a difference between a foot square and a square foot? W. G. F.
A. There is no difference in the area of a square foot and a foot square. Each has an area of 144 square inches.
- Q. Where is the longest continuous stretch of hard-surfaced road, east of the Mississippi? G. M. C.
A. The highway from Portland, Maine, to Washington, D. C., about 700 miles in length, is the longest continuous stretch of hard-surfaced road east of the Mississippi.
- Q. Why can't I find the town of Brumman in any atlas? A. A.
A. Brumman is a corruption of Birmingham (England). The town has become synonymous with worthless articles having a glittering exterior, various kinds of cheap jewelry having been manufactured in Birmingham.
- Q. What is the difference between miles and kilometers; gallons and liters and feet and meters? A. J. T.
A. A mile is equivalent to 1609 kilometers; 1 gallon to 4.5 liters or 3.785 liters; 1 foot to 0.3048 meters.
- Q. What are the postal regulations regarding a mail order business? D. E. A.
A. The post office department says that there is no law preventing a person or persons from having a mail order business, so long as they give what they advertise to the public. The law does not allow any false or

A. What is the record for wireless message? A. L. C.
Q. How is the word Chihuahua pronounced? D. D. C.
A. This word, which is the name of a state in old Mexico, and its capital, and also of a species of small dogs, is pronounced Che wa wa.
Q. Is molekine a fur? M. A. E.
A. This name is used when referring to the skin of the mole used as fur, but it is also applied to an extra-strong, double-twilled fustian, dyed after the pile is cut.

The DUPLEX ALCAZAR
Halves Space and Cuts Cooking Cost
It gives you really modern cooking facilities. If the coal fire is too slow, turn on the gas. Gives exactly the degree of heat you want for the work at hand. And as a result of this easy, economical control over cooking heats, fuel costs are cut materially.
In summer, keep your kitchen cool by burning gas. In winter, when you want warmth, use the coal or wood part of your Duplex-Alcazar. The change from fuel to fuel is instantaneous and it gives you a comfortable kitchen the whole year 'round.
The Duplex-Alcazar is the Pioneer three fuel range that suits every cooking need and every weather condition from Winter to Summer and the seasons in between. It is cooking you an effort every day that you are without one.

U. S. WANTS MORE MEN FOR STENOGRAPHY JOBS

Uncle Sam is courted by more women stenographers and typists than he can handle, according to notice received by Herman J. French, secretary of the local civil service examining board. The notice says plenty of women apply for these positions, but the government wants more men. Examinations are to be held in 500 cities soon for vacancies in Washington.
There also is a shortage of topographic draftsmen and the government civil service bureau therefore plans to hold examinations for such men soon. Mr. French has full particulars in these matters.

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barton

"Back to Circus-Land"

By Oliver Roberts Barton
Nancy held Kicky-Kang tenderly in her arms while his mother, Mrs. Kangaroo, and Flippety-Flap, the fairyman, put on the boxing gloves.

Nick stood by to referee the fight. "My!" cried Mrs. Kangaroo, happily. "This is like old times! It's just like the circus I used to be in. I boxed with the clown, Mr. Jolly Bobadil, and all the people laughed and clapped their hands. Now, Mr. Flippety-Flap, I'm ready."

Nancy and Nick laughed when Mrs. Kangaroo held up her hands and made passes at the fairyman. She stood on her hind legs and leaned back comfortably on her long, strong tail, like you've seen schoolboys do on the corner fire-plug on their way home from school.

Before Mr. Flippety-Flap started to box, however, he said, "Excuse me," very politely to Mrs. Kangaroo, and quickly whispered something into Nancy's small ear, and then into Nick's.

Both twins nodded understandingly, and knelt to see if their Magic Green Shoes were secure, and Nancy felt a firmer hold on soft little Kicky. He felt like a ball of silk in her arms.

Well, the fight began, and it was a wonderful fight. I must tell you, my dears, that Mrs. Kangaroo is famous for her boxing and she soon had Flippety-Flap huffing and puffing for breath.

But something else was happening besides a boxing match.

The fairyman's enormous shoes were getting still more enormous. They were spreading out like two large platforms. But Mrs. Kangaroo never noticed, and first thing you know she hopped right onto one of them.

Quick as a wink, Flippety-Flap wished himself back in Circus-Land, and, of course, Mrs. Kangaroo had to go, too.

Nancy and Nick followed in their Green Shoes with Kicky-Kang safe between them.

The splendid volume was remarkably well supported in the bass section and diminished effectively to the most exquisite pianissimo in the interpretation of the songs. The unity of tone and persistence were notable and true college spirit emanated from the club in the less serious numbers.

GILLETTE STOCKHOLDERS HEAR HISTORY OF FIRM

More than 300 of the 500 stockholders in the Gillette Rubber Co. of Eau Claire, residing in and near Appleton, attended a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening when R. E. Gillette, vice president of the company, gave a resume of the firm's history and urged stockholders to purchase the company's bonds.

He told of the difficulties which the company has experienced and of the progress that it has made. Shipments in March aggregated $250,000 and will reach $300,000 in April, he said. The company now has orders totaling $1,000,000 on its books. Part of the plant is working day and night to keep up with orders, he said.

Much of the address was devoted to the company's bond issue of $1,500,000.

Uses For Toast Crumbs

Toast crumbs require more care in handling than plain dried bread crumbs. The butter on the toast makes it impossible to keep these crumbs long but makes the crumbs rich. Use left-over toast from day to day. Next cubes of toast add to a dish of stewed tomatoes. Half a dozen cubes in a plate of soup give the soup "body."

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Hash, rhubarb, sauce, graham muffins, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Ham and egg tartlets, brown Betty, tea.
DINNER—Veal cutlets, creamed potatoes, carrots in lemon sauce, endive salad, chocolate pudding, coffee.

My Own Recipes
The test of a really good cook is in making hash. This homely old dish requires a skill in making that few cooks realize. There should be equal parts of meat and potato. The meat should be absolutely free of any particle of gristle.

Rhubarb Sauce
Peel off the outer skin of the rhubarb and cut in inch pieces. Pour over boiling water to cover and add 1-8 teaspoon of soda to one bunch of rhubarb. Let stand 5 or 10 minutes and drain. Put in stew pan with a little water and cook until soft. Put sugar in a dish and pour over rhubarb, stirring until dissolved. The amount of sugar depends on "taste," about 3-4 cup is the ordinary amount for one bunch of rhubarb.

Brown Betty
Toast crumbs, sweetened apple sauce, butter, cinnamon.
The apple sauce may be made of dried apples stewed and sweetened. Put a layer of sauce in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with cinnamon and dot with bits of butter. Add a layer of toast crumbs. Add alternate layers of apple sauce and crumbs, having the last layer of crumbs when the dish is filled. Bake in a slow oven and eat hot with hard sauce or sugar and cream. When made with buttered toast crumbs serve sugar and cream, as the pudding is rich enough without the addition of hard sauce. If made with cracker or dry unbuttered toast crumbs hard sauce is desirable.

Daddy Had a Rich Store of Philosophy Based on Actual Experience

"Don't look so worried, Jane!" This from Daddy Lorimer as he emerged from my husband's room. "The boy has fallen asleep without an anodyne for the first time."

"What good news!" exclaimed Martha with a sympathetic clasp of my fingers.

"I'm going to stay here," Daddy continued. "There may be a big change in him, the nurses say, when he wakes up."

"A change?" I cried. "If I could only be sure it would be for the better! Will he ever know me again, I wonder?"

"My dear! My dear. Put that fear away!" Daddy commanded. "I guess you'd better talk about something else." But in spite of his determination, I could see that it took a supreme effort of Daddy's will to turn our talk from his son's condition. At length, after regarding us two girls, as we sat side by side on the divan, Daddy commented:

"You're nice kiddies! Good girls, you two. But, Marie, you're much too thin! Whatever Ewart has been up to, don't take it so seriously." He paused, studied us thoughtfully, then continued: "Good little girls! You women don't have the easy rows to hoe in this life. But a man has to grow old before he finds that out. There's Ewart, now. What can a man want in a wife finer than Marie! And what is the fool doing? Gosh, how I'd like to tell him a few things!"

Certainly Daddy had succeeded in fixing our minds on a subject which absorbs about 99 per cent of the mental activity of the average woman. I became alert for I knew that Daddy was in a wonderful position to help Martha and me—if he would.

To know all is to forgive all, they say. Daddy was an old man who had had his fling, and a pretty complete one, in his time. He had a rich store of philosophy based on a vast experience in all the emotions which move human beings.

The problems of married life which distressed Martha and me had once distressed his own wife. And it was his fault. And if we could get it out of him—his opinion, a man's opinion of the great game—and shame—of the double moral standard, would be of incalculable value to us confused women.

"Perhaps, if we knew all we might forgive all. With our opportunities, little could we girls surmise of what a man thought of his fairer, and the deceptions they caused, and the consequent hurt to a trusting and devoted wife."

The big difficulty with Martha and me was that we were forever going around in a labyrinth of confusion. All my troubles with Zeb had to be settled by silence on my part. I resolved to ask Martha about her own experience.

Did Ewart take it for granted that everything was always all right between them, no matter what he had been doing, if only she wouldn't talk about it.

And did Ewart smile if she kept still.

And rage if she dared to show that she knew about his romances?

And grow almost violent if she happened to touch upon the real truth?

It would simply be a waste of time to try to get anything out of Daddy Lorimer at that point. I knew well that even at his age, he would never hand us girls some facts about the double standard. Certain truth no man ever tells any woman.

But from Daddy's attitude toward Martha and me, and his remark about certain fool young husbands, we could sum up the remainder of his experiences, perhaps, as he looked back upon them from the serenity of old age.

"When I see little women like you, struggling in a net," Daddy liked the phrase so well that he repeated it. "Struggling in a net, and using your puny strength to save big, strong men from themselves, sometimes without a 50-50 chance of doing it. I'd like to make the chape swallow a bit of the real truth about their character!"

Any manufacturer can build tires as good as Kelly-Springfields if he will put the same quality of materials, workmanship, and experience into them.

News of Interest From County and State

ASSEMBLY WILL RECONSIDER FIVE BILLS THURSDAY

Delays Caused by Revival of Old Measures May Cause Sharp Fight.

Madison, Wis.—When the assembly meets on Thursday five motions for reconsideration of action taken on as many measures will be taken up as a special order of business. Motions for reconsideration are permitted under the rules, but many members are tiring of the many delays caused by such motions and promise a real fight Thursday.

The motions which will be considered are:

By Mr. Tuffley to reconsider the vote by which the Volmer resolution barring former Assemblyman Glenn D. Turner from floor of the house was adopted.

By Mr. Scribner to reconsider the vote by which the Perry bill relating to the control of motor vehicles for hire was ordered engrossed.

By Mr. Gamper to reconsider the vote by which the Schafer bill providing salaries for town officials was passed.

By Mr. Matheson to reconsider the vote by which the Dennhardt bill relating to official markers on trunk highway system was non-concurred in.

By Mr. Olson to reconsider the vote by which the finance committee bill No. 3328, making the budget appropriation for the dairy and food commission was non-concurred in.

Assemblyman Tuffley moved for reconsideration of the Turner expulsion shortly after the vote was announced on the ground that the action had been hasty. Under the rules the reason for reconsideration is debatable, but the main question cannot be debated. If the assembly reconsiders its action on the Turner matter it is predicted there will be a number of scathing addresses on the floor against the socialists and nonpartisan leaguers, Turner having been a former socialist assemblyman and later organizer for the nonpartisan league.

The Perry bill, which Assemblyman Scribner is attempting to halt, would place the so-called "jitney busses" and motor busses operating between cities under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission, which could prohibit them from operating in competition with electric railways.

The Schafer bill would permit the town of Wauwatosa to pay its town clerk $1,500 per year salary, but in opposing it Mr. Gamper sees a possibility of other towns being compelled to pay salaries to officials.

The Dennhardt bill relating to official markers of state trunk highways and prohibiting any other markers, is reported to be a fight against the "Yellow Trail." In moving for reconsideration of the vote by which the bill was killed, Assemblyman Matheson proposes some amendments. The assembly amended the bill by exempting the Yellow Trail from its provisions and the bill was then promptly killed.

Some political significance is seen in the nonconcurrency in the finance committee bill making the appropriation for the dairy and food commission for the biennium and the motion of Assemblyman Olson, one of the administration leaders, for its consideration. Anti-administration men declare Governor Blaine has declared he would approve no biennial appropriation for any department which was larger than that of two years ago. They declare they took the executive at his word and refused to concur in the bill in question as it increases the appropriation from $75,000 to $100,000. By killing the bill the annual appropriation is left at $75,000. Thus, the administration men claim is not sufficient to perform the many important functions of the department and are asking for a reconsideration, although no one has apparently had authority to declare that if passed the bill will be approved by Governor Blaine.

OWNERS PUT THEIR VALUATION ON CAR

Madison—The automobile tax boosting bill to be introduced this week by the legislative joint committee permits each car owner to place a value on his own machine.

There is a joker in the bill, however, so far as the car owner is concerned. His valuation will be attached to the car in shape of a license tag so all may see. Personal pride, the solons believe will prevent an owner from parading a $5,000 car through the streets with a $1,000 license tag. Insurance and sales value will be effected by the tag, legislators said.

The automobiles are subject to a 2 per cent tax on valuation plus the license fee of $10 annually. The state will raise between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 additional revenue from this tax, it is estimated. The revenue goes to the highway department and will relieve the guard fund of more than $1,000,000 as well as doing away with highway mill taxes for the general property taxpayer.

OLD NEW LONDON CHURCH IS RAZED

Members of Congregation Donate Labor—Boy Scouts Swim in Appleton.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London—Word was received Thursday by the Bank of New London from the Second Ward Securities Co. of Milwaukee that the attorneys had rendered an opinion declaring the $150,000 6 per cent general obligation bonds recently issued to be illegal, due to a flaw in the ordinance. It will require about three months for the common council to recant the proceedings and advertise for bids.

A number of boy scouts of the local organization, accompanied by their scoutmaster, the Rev. W. H. Ziegler, drove to Appleton last Friday morning to take a swimming test, which will permit them to be ranked as first class scouts. Four scouts passed the test.

The trip was made in A. O. Zerkner's car.

Ike Poeppke has purchased from Herman Schimke the store building on South Pearl-st., occupied by E. H. Smith, taking immediate possession. Mr. Smith moved his grocery stock on Monday into the Wagner building on North Water-st., formerly occupied by Joseph Sofia. Mr. Poeppke will conduct a hiliard hall and cigar store in this new location.

The public schools reopened Monday morning after a week's vacation. The various teachers having returned on Saturday and Sunday.

M. P. Gallea returned on Saturday from a ten days' trip to Howey, Florida. He was accompanied on his return by his wife who has been visiting for several weeks in Cleveland, Ohio. While in Florida, Mr. Gallea, in company with A. M. Hutchinson, purchased a ten acre tract of land planted to orange and grape fruit trees. Both gentlemen plan to make their winter homes in Florida hereafter.

The Dorcas society of the Methodist church will hold its regular bi-weekly meeting in the church parlors next Thursday afternoon.

Glee Club Concert
The Ripon College Girls Glee club presented its concert to a large and interested audience in the auditorium of the Congregational church Friday evening. The members of the club were entertained by the girls of the Live Wire class of the Sunday school, under whose auspices the concert was given.

The work of razing the old Emanuel Lutheran church is rapidly progressing. The steeple has been torn down and the bell removed. The brick veneer was removed in one day, the labor being donated by members of the congregation. The pipe organ has been shipped to Peshtigo.

On Friday evening, April 1, the Friendly Mens class of the Methodist church held its regular monthly banquet at which the wives were guests. The weekly meeting will be held on Thursday of this week at the home of Bert Allen, and will be conducted by U. S. Lewis.

In New Home
William Stern and family have moved into their recently completed residence on Dexter-st. Mr. Stern built the house entirely by his own labor.

Neighbors and friends assembled at the Stratton home on West Law-st. last Thursday evening to help Mrs. Stratton celebrate her birthday anniversary. After an evening of games and music, a delightful lunch was served to the guests.

Mrs. Ralph Hanson of Seymour and Miss Carter of Kaukauna have taken possession of the R. F. Zierer studio. Mr. Zierer will remain with them for several weeks.

D. J. Rohrer and J. D. Cotton of Clintonville were business visitors in the city Saturday afternoon.

Forest Kapernick who has been employed by his mother at the Commercial hotel for the last year, left for Montana Sunday to spend several

NOW IS THE TIME TO START ANNUAL SPRING CLEANUP

State Board of Health Urges Speedy Removal of Fly Breeding Places.

Special to Post-Crescent

Madison—A request that cities and villages begin their spring clean-up at once, instead of waiting until far along in April, is made by the state board of health. In early measures of this kind the sanitary authorities see a method of combating the fly nuisance more effectively. Removing the fly's breeding places as early in the spring as possible is equivalent to starting it out. The means recommended include the following:

Remove all rubbish and ashes from cellars, backyard and surroundings.

Keep manure in flytight, covered boxes and remove it at least once a week.

Ventilate damp cellars; clean all windows and open them to fresh air and sunlight.

Have leaky roofs and bad plumbing repaired, and do not tolerate dirty, broken walls and ceilings.

Use plenty of soap, hot water and sunshine.

Clean up the attic and other remote places where flies breed and dust accumulates.

Use the damp broom, the oil mop, and oil cloths instead of dry sweeping and dustings, which are dangerous practices.

Burn all household rubbish promptly.

Dispose of garbage according to your municipal regulations.

Do not throw waste paper in any street, or park, or back yard. Bale and sell all waste paper.

Don't forget the stagnant pools and jimmelling refuse piles. They breed flies and mosquitoes, and consequently disease.

Don't let milk bottles stand unwashed after use.

STATE FUND WILL REACH 11 MILLION

Madison—The general fund of the state treasury will amount to $11,000,000 on July 1, the beginning of the new fiscal year, according to the estimate of State Treasurer Henry Johnson, who cites that this will be far in excess of the sum on hand at the same time in any previous year.

"The fiscal year ending on June 30 ought to be done away with and the books closed on Dec. 31," Mr. Johnson declared. "This would enable each administration to stand on its own footing, and one administration would not have to be responsible for the last six months of the previous administration, as is the case now."

The table below will show the condition of the general fund as it was during the Phillip administration. At no time during this period were any warrants presented to the state treasurer which were not paid promptly, and at no time was there any juggling of funds in order to meet said payments.

	General Fund
July 1, 1915	$4,620,195.02
July 1, 1916	2,069,723.28
July 1, 1917	2,087,073.76
July 1, 1918	3,532,612.74
July 1, 1919	5,391,505.97
July 1, 1920	8,748,691.65
July 1, 1921 (Estimate)	11,000,000.00

"The general fund as a rule is the one that guides the financial condition of the state as that fund is what is known as a 'grab bag' proposition. Other funds are guarded more strictly by law."

EMPLOYEES TAKE POSTERS FROM TELEPHONE POLES

There is a city ordinance prohibiting notices or advertising matter from being posted on telephone, telegraph or electric light poles and those who persist in nailing up such matter are subject to arrest. Within the last week a large number of notices have been removed from poles by men employed in the street department.

CATARRAH DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head and ear noises or are growing hard of hearing go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Oppose Game Laws Because They Are Not Sportsmen

That is the Reason Assigned by Mark Catlin for Legislators' Actions.

Madison, Wis.—The members of the Wisconsin legislature are not sportsmen. Assemblyman Mark Catlin, chairman of the fish and game committee of the house and one of the best known sportsmen in the state, has discovered that not more than half a dozen members of the lower house ever go fishing and only one or two have ever gone hunting for deer or ducks.

"That is the reason," declared Mr. Catlin, "that there may be some difficulty in enacting fish and game laws. The members are neither fishermen nor hunters, they are not personally interested in either. do not know the conditions and therefore are but lukewarm on any measure introduced on the subject."

The senate this week amended the bill passed by the assembly changing the opening of the bass season from July 1 to June 15, by adding five more days, this making the opening of the season June 20. The bill will come back to the assembly next week and the amendment will undoubtedly be concurrent in, so that sportsmen may count on fishing for bass by June 20.

The action of the assembly in killing the Catlin bill to increase the fees for deer tags and trappers to $1 means that approximately $100,000 which would be collected by the increase will be lost to the conservation commission. The committee on fish and game had recommended the bill for passage, believing that the sportsmen would be willing to pay the increased fee to provide more funds for the administration of the department and assist in making the state a better place to hunt and fish. Several members of the assembly, however, opposed the bill on the grounds that only a small portion of the hunters kill a deer and under the present law they pay but 10 cents for a deer tag, but under the proposed law they would have been compelled to pay $1 for a tag which would be of no use unless they succeeded in killing a deer.

The hearing on the one-buck law, which was scheduled for this week will be postponed one week because of the short session next week, as adjournment was taken today until next Wednesday night, and it is presumed quite a few members will not return for the last three days, thus getting to spend eight days at home.

MRS. HATCH SUES FOR SEPARATION

Central Figure in $80,000 Alienation Suit Says Charges Are "Lies."

Delavan, Wis.—Mrs. Evan Simon Hatch, noted southern Wisconsin beauty and central figure of the $80,000 "heart balm" suit recently brought against John B. Johnson, Jr., of Darien, by Arthur S. Hatch, her husband, announced on Monday that she will file divorce papers at once.

The sensational charges brought against her in the suit, which was dismissed last Saturday, she characterized as lies.

"My husband dragged me before the public in a series of charges that were all a pack of lies—lies—lies, every one of them," said Mrs. Hatch.

"I am prepared to go on the stand and defend my reputation," she continued at the home of her parents in Delavan. "If I am going back to Chicago to work as a model, I have seen an attorney on starting a divorce." The divorce court will stage the last act of the romance which started in Delavan when Eva Simon Hatch was 12 years old. Despite objections of the parents, the girl was married to Arthur Hatch when she was 18. She now is 22 years old.

"I have every confidence and faith in my daughter," declares Mrs. Simon, the mother. "She may have been indiscreet in several things, but we want her home again."

WANT TO SEE SIRE OF NATIONAL FAME

Sir Ollie Has Many Visitors at Striegel Farm Since He Arrived.

Peter Striegel farm, Mackville corners, is a mecca for farmers from all parts of the county these days. They want to see Ollie Johanna Sir Fayne, the Waupaca county Holstein sire with a nationally famous record. He was brought here by a group of farmers cooperating through a plan of the First National bank.

The animal is said by expert stockmen to be one of the most exceptionally built of his type. He is immense in size and possesses the markings of a sire of almost perfect breed.

Five daughters of Sir Ollie have more than 30 pounds butter fat records from an average milk production of 89 pounds a day. Another daughter holds the world's milk record for producing as a 3 year old cow, 68 pounds of milk each day for 305 days. The sire belongs to a family of noted type.

Much favorable comment is heard among breeders for the movement among leading dairymen to breed pedigree Holstein calves from this sire in Outagamie county. It will cost these men nearly $2,000 to accomplish their object, but they believe it an important stepping stone to the day when this county will be the leading dairy center of the state so far as its herds are concerned.

U. S. SECURITIES BOOSTED BY P. O.

Government Tries to Counteract Tendency to Buy Wildcat Stocks.

Circulars describing treasury savings certificates are being distributed by the postoffice to all patrons with the idea of encouraging safe investments.

"So much money is invested in wildcat stocks with the lure of big returns that the government is trying to urge thrift and investment along safer lines," Postmaster Gustave Keller says. "We therefore are calling the public's attention to the new securities as a desirable investment for the mass of small means as well as the rich."

The circulars describe $25 $100 and $1,000 savings certificates which yield 4 per cent compounded quarterly and are payable at their full value when they mature. There is no intricate procedure and no worry about collecting the interest.

TAX DISTRIBUTION BILL OPPOSED HERE

City officials have been notified that the Caldwell bill reducing the city's share of income tax from 70 per cent to 40 per cent has again been recommended for passage by the assembly committee on taxation and has been placed on the assembly calendar for April 7.

"Unless the cities of the state make a determined fight against it, the officials are informed, it will pass. It has been twice recommended for passage in the committee. There are 45 farmers in the assembly. If the bill is passed it will cost the cities of this state $1,450,000 per year and will save the country districts a like amount.

The officials were instructed that if the city is opposed to the bill it had better get in touch with its assemblyman and press upon him their opposition. A consultation with Assemblyman Mark Catlin was held Monday afternoon.

FARM PUBLICATION TELLS OF PROGRESS

Many suggestions for greater production of the farm and more profit from the fruits of farm labor are contained in the March issue of Farm News, the farm department publication of the First National bank. The paper also brings to light many forward steps in dairy development with in the last month or two.

The leading article describes the plan for distribution of pure bred White Leghorn eggs to farm women wanting to earn more egg money. Past and approaching stock sales, the trophies to be awarded high producing cows, the alfalfa movement, pure seed agitation and many other topics are given.

Two pictures of the boys' and girls' calf club are shown and the progress made by the embryo breeders is described. A picture and greeting from A. O. Hecht, assistant cashier, appears on the front page.

ELLINGTON SCHOOL AGAIN WINS SEAL CONTEST PRIZE

Pleasant Vale school, Ellington, Miss. Genevieve Collar, teacher, has just been notified that it won the Fairbanks seal offered by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis society twice in succession. If the district wins again next year it will become the permanent owner of the property.

The association offers these seals to the district school in each county disposing of the greatest number of Christmas seals per capita. Of the 65 counties that won seals in 1919 only 17 were able to retain them in 1920.

MILD WINTER KEPT MANY FLIES ALIVE

Fly swatters fly paper and other fly killing devices must begin their work early this year. The mild weather appears to have been a life saver for the average housewife that usually dies when winter's cold arrives. The pests have remained in hiding or in warm places for several months, but the balmy outdoor weather and spring sunshine are bringing them into activity. More than one housewife has noticed more than the usual number of flies around.

Some have adopted the motto, "do your fly swatting early." Flies are considered fast breeders, and the more people kill now the fewer there will be during the summer.

Third Ward Books Now Are Part Of Appleton Library

The Appleton public library has received a gift of a library comprising upwards of 3,000 volumes which has been donated by the Third district school. The library formerly was that of the Third district high school and was started in 1889 by O. E. Wells, then principal. It was built up largely through the efforts of O. E. Clark, member of the school board and W. F. Winsey, who was principal of the district for a number of years.

The books were selected from a list submitted by the state superintendent of public instruction, and paid for by annual appropriations of the district of from $100 to $300. A librarian was employed and the volumes were well catalogued. Not only the pupils of the school but the residents of the district were entitled to draw books.

In 1904 the city was organized into a union high school district and the Third district high school was discontinued.

The library is composed largely of historical and biographical standard sets with some fiction and miscellaneous volumes. Miss Oma Day, librarian, is cataloguing the books and arranging them on the top shelves of the public library. There are enough of them to fill all the space on top of the shelves all the way around the room.

As long as it was in use and kept up to date, the Third district school library was of great service to the pupils and teachers in their work and to the people of the district. For years it was the largest and best school library in the state.

RAILROAD CUT PARTLY FILLED IN BY SLIDES

The sides of the deep cut which the Wisconsin & Northern Railroad Company made under the Ashland division track of the Northwestern road at Appleton Junction last fall caved in in many places this spring and the straight edge of the cut now presents a ragged line. In some places several tons of earth filled the intervening space between the track and the side of the cut to a depth of several feet. The only damage that resulted was to blockade the water and channels have been cut through the slides for drainage.

INVITE FOREIGNERS TO CITIZEN SCHOOL

Boy scouts are busy distributing invitations among Appleton foreigners to the organization meeting of a citizenship class at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the vocational school.

The invitations were prepared in the office of the bureau of naturalization, Washington, D. C. and the names and addresses attached. They are attractively printed and besides describing the Americanization course tell of attractive certificates issued by the United States government.

This method of personal invitation to foreign born persons to learn about the government and become citizens is being carried out all over the country.

PAY WATER BILLS OR GO WITHOUT THE SERVICE

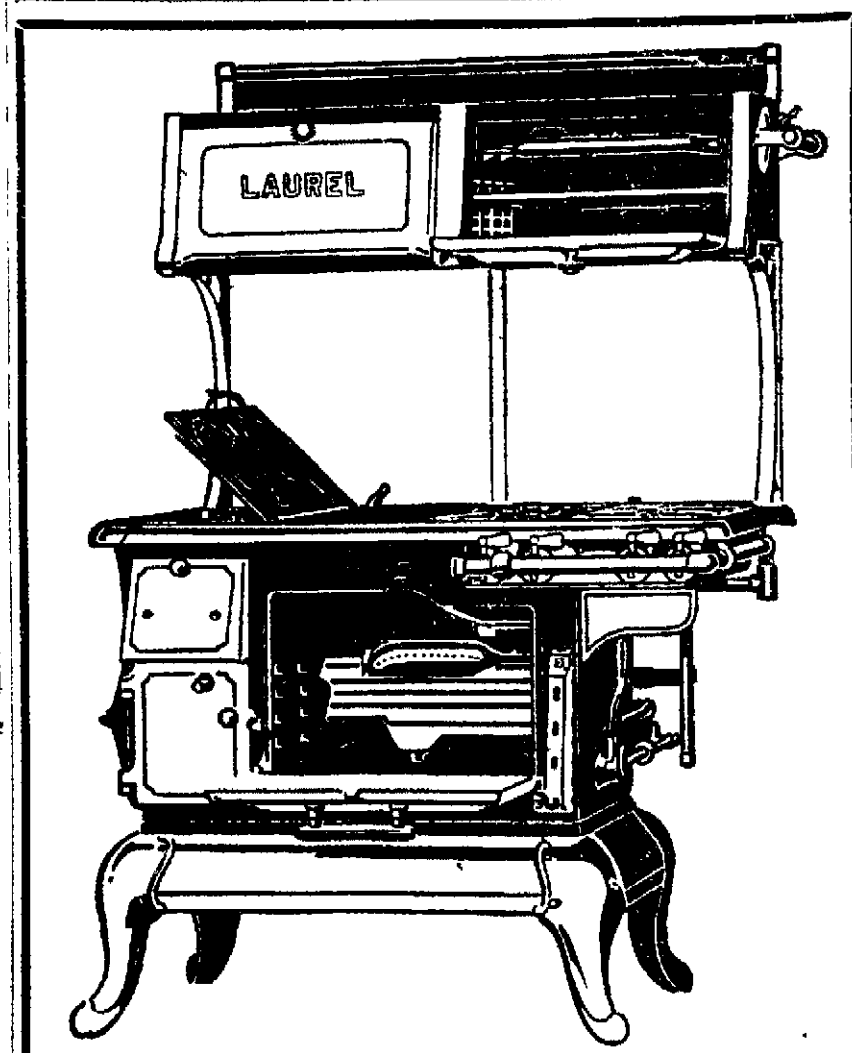

In compliance with the ruling of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission which compels the utility to discontinue service where a bill remains unpaid 30 days after date the Appleton Water Commission has lately made over 100 disconnections and service will not be resumed until all arrearages have been paid together with the sum of $1.00 in advance off and on the same. Prior to the ruling many patrons had a habit of letting their water bills accumulate for several months. The utility has 3,500 patrons.

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQuitty, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. TRAINING SEASON INJURIES HAMPER MAJOR TEAMS

GIANTS HARDEST HIT BY JINX OF SOUTHERN CAMPS

Indians Suffer Severe Blow When Wamby Suffers Fractured Arm.

By Henry L. Farrell
By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Training trips have been unusually hard this spring on some of the pennant contending clubs in the major leagues.
Injuries and illness encountered on spring training have brought to light some interesting figures on reserve strength that may prove a big factor in deciding the pennants.
The two New York clubs have swallowed extra doses of hard luck. At one time three of the regular Giants infielders were out of the game and McGraw's lack of capable substitutes was strikingly apparent.
Frisch, Rapp and Bancroft will start the season but Rapp and Bancroft will be bound to show the effects of illness. If anything happens to Frisch who in his brief career is making a strong bid for the "jinxed" honors, the Giants will be in a bad way.
The Yankees haven't been so unfortunate and Miller Huggins is much better fixed to buck hard luck.
The Yanks have two capable, hard hitting men for almost every position on the field. Some have expressed the opinion that injuries would even help Huggins to make a decision on his regular team.
Babe Ruth is bothered with a bad wrist and Bobby Roth has water on the knee and may not be any good in the early part of the race.
Of course, the babe couldn't have his shoes filled by anyone on the bench but Roth will not be missed.
The Cleveland Indians will be hit awfully hard if the fracture of a small bone in Bill Wambegans' arm turns out as badly as feared.
Tris Speaker hasn't any substitute able to fill the shoes of a really great second baseman, whose absence of a month or so at the start of the season might give some of the other contending clubs a big lead.

TENDLER UNABLE TO BOX UNTIL IN JUNE

Philadelphia Lightweight Submits to Operation on His Hands.

Philadelphia — Lew Tandler, local star lightweight, is preparing to leave the National Stomach hospital, following operations last week on both his hands. Although it had been expected that the southpaw would have to be in the hospital for another week, the operations have proved so successful that he will be at his home for this weekend.
"I have been suffering no pains whatever for the last two days," said Tandler on Monday, "and as it is rather tedious here, I have asked for an early discharge."
Tandler is confident the absence of the first joint of his third left finger will prove no handicap in his future boxing, and that the removal of a small bone from his right thumb will result in a prevention from future fractures to that mitt.
"I won't be long before my hands will be in commission again so that I can get back into the ring," further said Lew. "Gee I hope that I can go through with that proposed bout with Benny Leonard this summer."
Phil Glassman, Tandler's manager, on Monday received an offer from Leo P. Flynn of New York, for the southpaw to meet Rocky Kansas of Buffalo, at the Garden of the first week in May. "It is hardly possible for me to make this match," said Phil, "as I don't expect to start Louie much before the middle of June. I think he will be ready for action in about ten weeks."

Speaking of J's. Think of J. Sullivan, J. Corbett, J. Jeffries, J. Johnson, J. Willard and J. Dempsey. But none of them have been jays.

A fan in the centerfield bleachers will admit he can see balls and strikes better than an umpire behind the plate.

Maranville always carries a couple of "Rabbit" feet with him.

KENOSHA BATTLER IS PREPARING FOR GREATER FISTIC ACTIVITY

This is the lad who will tackle Eddie McGorty, veteran Oshkosh light heavyweight in Armory G Thursday night, April 14, in the ten round wind-up of the card offered by the Midwest Athletic club. Gorman is well known in these parts but a little resume of his history might be interesting to the fans.

Bud Gorman was officially christened as Earl Lovejoy a few days after his birth which occurred in Chicago on May 20, 1897. He took his fighting appellation after a famous uncle who was a circus rider in the days of long ago.

Bud, who now tips the beam at 155 pounds, has not been very active in the fistic game the last few years but now is planning a campaign of activity which he expects will carry him into battles with topnotchers. His last fight was with Bob Moha in Madison, March 8. Chicago sport writers were unanimous in giving the decision to Gorman.

This young heavyweight is a very likeable fellow, is clever with the padded gloves and also carries a kick in either mitt. His percentage of knockouts on his record is above the ordinary. His scientific handling of the mittens, together with the dynamite enclosed therein has been the deciding feature of his career.

Bud Gorman, the fighter, started his boxing while living on a farm near Neenah, Wis. Sam Howard, better known as "Diamond Tooth Sam," was running a boxing club at Oshkosh, Wis., and Gorman asked this promoter to give him a chance.

Very accommodatingly he put him on with a tough fellow named Billy Frazier. Bud stowed him away in three rounds, getting for his pay a total of $7. Immediately he became a windup fighter and was matched up with the veteran Jack Moran, whom he defeated in ten rounds. During the remainder of 1915 he fought three bouts with Frank Farmer, who is now starring on the Pacific Coast around Portland, Ore. Bud won the newspaper decisions in all three of these contests.

During that year he also knocked out Joe Howard and Bob Jones and fought no-decisions with Jim Carney, Lee Nelson, Billy Perkins and Young Mahoney.

In 1916 he fought no-decisions with Ned Carpenter (twice), and Young Mahoney.

Shortly after war was declared by the United States, Gorman joined the Thirty-second Division with a company from Kenosha, Wis. While "over there," he fought three bouts, winning all three by knockouts. He put Ba Ward to sleep in five rounds at Havre, France; Sergt. Quill in four rounds and also knocking out Ted Jamieson in five rounds at the latter place.

Last year he fought only one bout, winning a newspaper decision over Jack Ward on July 1, at Menasha, Wis., after ten rounds of milling.

Patsy Callahan, who is the manager of Gorman, is experienced in his part of the game, having brought out and managed Eddie McGorty for several years.

"Does that mule ever kick you, Sam?"
"No, sah," replied Sam, "but he sometimes kicks whe' I jes' been."—Judge.

"Oh, no, sir, I'm merely going."

DO YOU CATCH COLD EASILY?

HOW TO AVOID IT
Colds are due to germs. No one can prevent the germs from getting into your nose and throat. But you can help keep plenty of strong, vigorous, "antibodies" in your blood to fight and kill off the nasty "cold germs" before they do you any harm.

To develop these germ destroying "antibodies" properly, you must have plenty of pure rich, red blood and a strong, vigorous constitution. In fact, this is the best preventive against almost any disease.

If you are weak, nervous or run-down, or subject to colds, take no chances. One day you may develop serious throat, bronchial or lung trouble or perhaps pneumonia and you may go off like a shot. Therefore commence to enrich your blood and fortify yourself against "disease germs" today.

To build more and better blood and make stronger nerves, there is nothing superior to NUXATED IRON as it contains organic iron like the iron in your blood combined with a product representing the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force for feeding the nerves. Nuxated iron may therefore be said to be both a blood and a nerve food. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance in two weeks' time.

Over 4,000,000 people are using it annually. It has been highly praised by former United States Senators, U. S. Army Generals, many physicians and prominent men. Even the Pope at Rome mentioned it favorably in a communication to the Proprietor of the Pharmacy Normale d'Offaria. Satisfaction guaranteed or the manufacturers will refund your money. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "NUXATED" on every package and the letters N. L. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

THE STAGE

The Mikado
"The Flowers That Bloom In The Spring"—"Three Little Maids From School Are We"—"The Sun Whose Rays"—"A Wandering Minstrel Am I"—all well known song hits in that prettiest of all comic operas—"The Mikado," were whistled and hummed by your fathers and mothers, in the nineties. And now you are going to hum and whistle them because that wizard of the theatrical world, Ralph Dunbar of Chicago, has revived "The Mikado" and will bring his big production to the Appleton theatre April 13.

Heading the cast is Ed Andrews, the "grand old man" of opera who is singing his old role of "KoKo." A great "KoKo" is Andrews—a comedian from the top of his head to his sturdy feet. Miss Patricia Baker is singing "Yum-Yum" and Miss Ann McCashin is a decidedly pretty and magnetic "Pitti-Sing."

The chorus is a marvel. Mr. Dunbar selected each member personally. Unlike other producers he contends that the chorus is really the foundation of an opera. He builds from the chorus to the principals and that his contention is good is attested by the remarkable production he has out this season.

Nothing about this offering of "The Mikado" has been neglected. Careful attention has been paid to detail. Costumes and scenery are correct and new and pretty. "The Mikado" is the feature opera of the present season. It bears the Dunbar stamp. It is a Dunbar attraction which spells perfection.

EXPOSURE ACES - RHEUMATIC PAINS

Sloan's Liniment, kept handy, takes the fight out of them.
SLOSHING around in the wet and then the dreaded rheumatic twinges! But not for long when Sloan's Liniment is put on the job!

Pains, strains, sprains—how soon this old family friend penetrates without rubbing and helps drive 'em away! And how cleanly, too—no muss, no bother, no stained skin or clogged pores. Muscles limber up, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, backache are promptly relieved. Keep a bottle handy. Get one today if you've run out of Sloan's Liniment, it's so warming.

STAR AND FREAK INCLUDED IN ST. LOUIS RECRUITS

Riviera Is Star and Topcorer, Second Baseman, Wears Spectacles.

By Sid Keener
St. Louis, Mo.—One genuine find and one baseball freak have been brought in by the St. Louis Cardinals this season.

The find is Arthur Riviera, a 21-year-old right hand pitcher from the Texas bushes and the freak is George Topcorer, New York semiprofessional who plays second base and wears glasses.

Both have cinched the team. Pennant prospects for the Cards swings around the improvement in pitching and the chance of finding three regulars out of the new material.

Besides Riviera, Roy Walker, from the Southern league, and Bill Dertica, from the Pacific Coast league, are fine pitching prospects.

Walker, a lean right hander with a "smoke ball" has made the grade but Dertica has not entirely passed the test.

Jess Haines is expected to do the best work of the regulars. Manager Rickey, knowing that he was overworked last season, expects him to be one of the best hurlers in the big league this season.

The outfield offers a problem with Clarence Mueller, a 21-year-old St. Louis semi-professional. Heathcote, McHenry, Mann, Shotten and Schultz are fighting for places.

The situation promises to be a mixture all season. The infield also became complicated with the refusal of Milton Stock to report. Hornsby was transferred to third base and has been doing well and Topcorer is getting a chance at second base with Janvrin ready to step in if he falls. Fournier is back on first base and Lavan is still at shortstop.

Eight catchers started the spring training season but only three remain. They are Vernon Clemens, Bill Dithoefer and Lew McCarty.

Rickey expects much of Bill Doak, Ferdie Schupp, Jake May and Bill Sherdel who form the backbone of his pitching staff.

Lou North, who joined the club last summer from the American association, also may develop into a winning hurler.

The hope on the Cardinals for 1921 runs chiefly to batting. They led the league last year in team batting and promise to repeat this season.

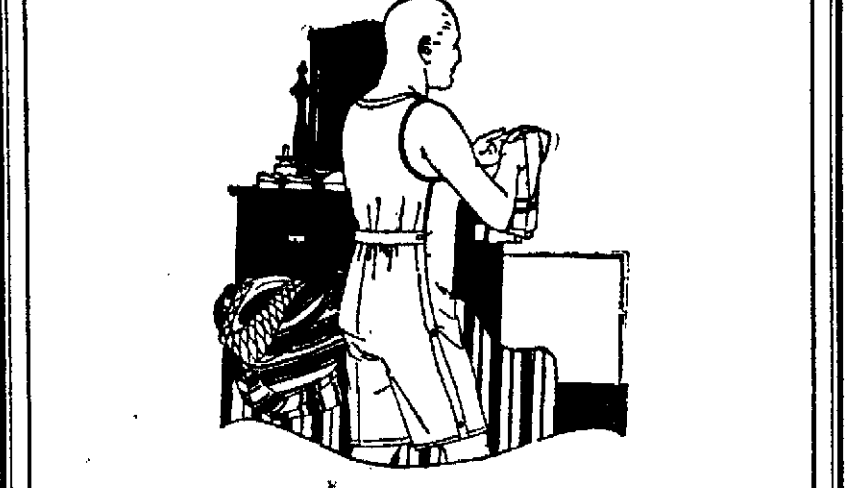

SOCIETY'S SOCIAL MASK IS A REALITY

New York—You've heard a lot about the social mask, of course.

Most every novel tells about it—the mask of guarded speech and immovable features as a protection against prying eyes and gossiping tongues.

But the social mask is now a reality in New York. Herman Rosse, an artist from Holland, makes them. He came to this country in 1913 to decorate the Dutch building at the San Francisco exposition for his government. Later he was head of the design department of the Chicago Art Institute.

Rosse began making masks for Yvette Guilbert, the actress.
"Make me something to give me the appearance of being young—as I looked years ago," she said.
That gave Rosse the big idea.
Today he's turning out large numbers of these masks for New York women who wear them at teas and other affairs.

Veterans Of Two Wars Felicitate Each Other On Services To Nation

Attorney P. H. Martin of Green Bay Delivers Inspiring Address at Meeting of World War Veterans—Civil War Veterans Give Brief Talks.

Twenty-three veterans of the Civil war were guests of Oney Johnston post of the American Legion at the monthly meeting in Elk hall Monday evening. The speaker of the evening was Attorney Patrick H. Martin, Green Bay, who recalled to mind the true ideal of the constitution and showed the need of this country's part in some form of association of nations. A large number of new members were received by representatives of the Woman's Auxiliary, who attended the meeting and asked the support of the post in building up their organization.

moved within him as the legion men invited his comrades to their meeting. He urged the World War men to hold together and do a good work. "We are glad to see a new army watching over the ark of the covenant," said Dr. A. W. Kanouse. "Most of the soldiers in the Civil war were under 21 years of age, and that is why we are here today. The cartoons show angels beckoning us over the river, but we are not going until we have to." Describing how the G. A. R. had kept away from politics, theology, and religion, Dr. Kanouse said the legion must do the same, yet must not hesitate to make itself heard on policies obligatory to patriotism or loyalty. The ethics of the Nazarene must be emulated, he said. Dr. Kanouse then quoted as the message of the Civil War veterans to Oney Johnston post the words of Rufus Chastice, who succeeded Daniel Webster as United States senator. He said: "We rightly have great respect for the decisions of majorities, but there is something vastly greater and more sacred than the verdict of any majority. That something is the law. It has stood the test of long experience and was bequeathed to us by all the ages of the past."

Must Have Strength. Mr. Martin prefaced his address with the statement that life would be nothing without something to struggle for. If men would be of service, he referred to the preamble of the American Legion constitution, saying only a man inspired by service in the great war could pen those words. Taking the expression "For God and Country" as his "text," he showed how the constitution of the United States was planned to accomplish stability for the nation.

"There is no mob like the majority and no tyranny like the majority if the people are free to follow the impulse of the moment," he said. "The salvation of this country is in the fundamental fact that the constitution is a fixed thing for controlling the mob of today. It controls the hysteria of congress, the senate and assembly. There is nothing worse than the feeling that modern reformers can change it at will."

"We have abroad in this land of plenty and great opportunity an element of destruction. It wants to tear down our institutions and rule with arbitrary power, and when it gets in power it will have no more regard for life than in chaotic Russia."

"All through our industrial centers," said the speaker, "are the traitors who openly advocate destruction of our government. There is no place beneath the Stars and Stripes for such traitors. I speak not of the deluded man or the victim of malice. I refer to such men as Berger, Debs and that brood of traitors, against whom I am not hurling this statement for the first time. I care not what cradle they were rocked in, what creed they hold, what baptismal font of regeneration they came from, but they shall not pour out in the channels of American life the malice within them and be permitted to live here."

Rape at Politics. Mr. Martin showed how America went into the war to defeat the anti-

Christ of Germany that threatened the soul of this country. He scored the debasement of political campaigns in this country as they are carried on, intimating that the issues in the last election had been befogged merely to get votes.

The speaker said it was the American impulse, the American ideal, that made the men go to war and fight that it might live. He then showed how that ideal had won tribute from every nation on earth. He said none ever did or will excel in expressing it as Woodrow Wilson had, and that his voice had been heard with more potency in the nations of Europe than that of their own great men.

Describing the horrors that would accompany another war, Mr. Martin said:

"An international court of justice is in the making. If God will not inspire at some time a world tribunal, then we have not been lifted to the plane where intelligence and justice prevail." He said nations were reluctant to bring their grievances before such a court now, but once they learned how easily and fairly their differences could be settled, we would be rid of the brutal phase of warfare our men have just experienced.

Oswald W. Roffe, a member of Cutworth post of the American Legion, Milwaukee, told what his organization was doing to combat disloyalty and Socialism. He said this month was being devoted to a campaign for Americanism.

Several musical numbers were given by McConnell and Mack, entertainers playing at Appleton theater, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Jebe.

tion. Mrs. Gustave Keller addressed the veterans saying the auxiliary ought to have at least 1,000 members as the result of its campaign this week. Many legion men enrolled their mothers, wives or sisters.

Four of the aged veterans were called upon for speeches. J. D. Hanchett, post commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, expressed appreciation of his post for the invitation and said the work of the legion was a source of admiration and pride. G. Langstadt lauded the spirit of patriotism manifested by the new generation of veterans, and expressed the hope that these men would feel as proud of their service at a ripe old age as the Civil war veterans do now.

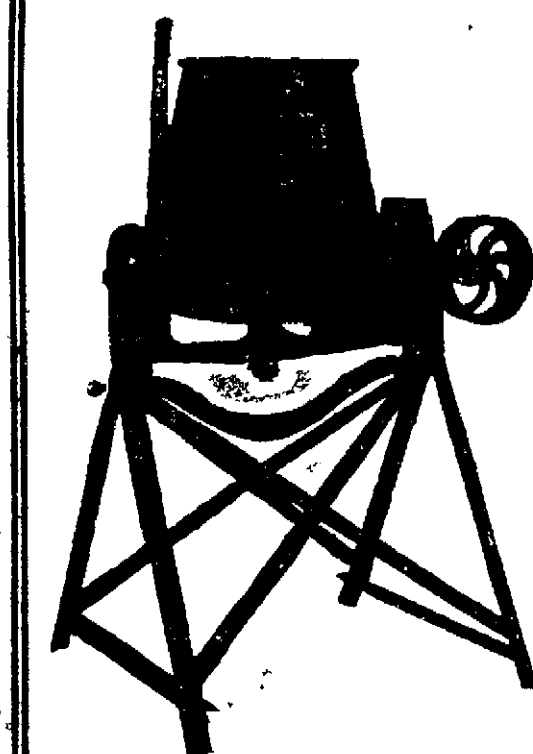

Held Together. Gus Bronson, Waupaca salesman, attended the meeting with the G. A. R. members and spoke briefly. He said he could not describe the feelings that
